Condemns Support In U.S. Of Terrorists

The British Government's determination not to accept any United Nations policy on Palestine of which it does not approve was put on record in a notable debate on Palestine in the House of Lords in which all the bitterness that Britons feel toward the Palestinian terrorists and toward American Zionists who are financing unauthorized immigration was poured out in floods of indignation and distaste.

One warning by Lord Altringham is underscored in an editorial of The Times of London. He asserted that Jewish misery and helplessness were Europe's responsibility and that there had been "singular indifference on the part of the powers that called themselves Christian."

Then he went on to say: "There will be no reduction of tension until the problem of displaced persons, living hopelessly in camps, is disposed of. The present effect of this and the terrorist activities is to create a very dangerous, but nevertheless natural feeling of anti-Semitism in the services, that will have repercussions in this country."

This, says The London Times, "was very much to the point." Lord Altringham was especially strong on the conditions under which unauthorized immigration is taking place. He described them as "inhuman, disgusting and disgraceful," and the ships as "far worse than those used to carry slaves to America."

This letter had Lord Hall to issue a striking warning, as well as a strong attack on the British Government.

Suggests Interim Colony In Palestine

Approximately 200,000 Jews in Germany and Austria must migrate elsewhere, with Palestine and the United States offering about the only alternatives. In the view of one official spokesman who returned to Washington.

This conclusion was expressed by Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein, of Rochester, N.Y., advisor on Jewish affairs to Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Mark W. Clark, United States commanders respectively in Germany and Austria.

The impossibility of Jews re-establishing themselves in Germany was underscored by Rabbi Bernstein with the statement that probably eight out of ten Germans were so imbued with anti-Semitism as to make the plight of Jews there unbearable.

The rabbi reported that, counting displaced refugees from other European areas, there were 153,000 Jewish displaced persons in the United States zone in Germany, 20,000 in the United States zone in Austria, about 16,000 in the British zone and some 3,000 in the French zone. He said his figures included about 5,000 Jewish orphans in the United States zone.

Rabbi Bernstein recommended strongly that an "interim" resettlement in Palestine be undertaken, caring for a "minimum of 100,000 of these displaced persons," regardless of the future political settlement of the Palestine problem.

"Resettlement should come quickly," he said. "Most Jews will wish to go to Palestine. The Jews of Palestine were not there because of anti-Semitism."

Calls For Decision On Status Of Jew

At the annual general meeting of the American Philosophical Society, in Philadelphia, Pa., Leasing J. Rosenwald, president of the American Council for Judaism, declared, in a paper read for him, that the Jews themselves and the world at large would have to decide, in the near future, what the status of the Jew was to be.

He said the choice was between a universal concept of Jews as free and equal citizens throughout the world, adhering to an ancient religion, or as members of a nation centered in a Jewish state in Palestine.

Adherents of anti-Zionist philosophy maintain that in a democratic world the proposal of a Jewish state is destructive, said Mr. Rosenwald.

"Zionism is founded on the idea that Jews are elements of a nation," he continued, "that those elements suffer from a sense of 'homelessness' and will remain so unless they possess a sovereign territory of their own, that when and if such sovereign territory were acquired, the problem of Jews would be substantially solved."

Asserting that the solution of the problem rested primarily upon the Jews themselves, Mr. Rosenwald said that the non-Jewish world could contribute to a wise choice by a thorough understanding of the real issues by helping to solve the displaced persons' problem and by fighting anti-Semitism.

REAL QUESTION BEFORE U.N. IS TERMINATION OR LIMITATION OF ZIONIST MOVEMENT

The Jewish Agency for Palestine made a public appeal to the United States to take the lead in support of the Zionist cause in the United Nations debates on the future of the Holy Land.

The strong bid for full United States backing came after weeks of conferences among Zionist leaders. It was made by Dr. Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, Ohio, chairman of the Agency's American section. In plain language, Dr. Silver said, the United States' stand would be decisive in the special General Assembly meeting on Palestine.

Rabbi Silver asserted on his recent visit to Palestine that the Zionists had never asked that Britain leave but only that she discharge the obligations that Zionists believed the mandate imposed on her.

Disident underground groups do not agree, but terrorism would diminish if the energies of the Jewish community could be absorbed in renewed creative effort.

To the minds of many Christian statesmen the Palestine problem appears to be primarily that of disposing of Jewish refugees in Europe and those who are being gathered in Cyprus, on the doorstep of the promised land, says Clifton Daniel, in the New York Times.

Zionist leaders, however, understand that the real question before the United Nations is the liquidation or limitation of the Zionist movement, a question that is broader than the fate of a few hundred thousand Europeans. They accuse Britain of wishing to liquidate Zionism by retaining the mandate over Palestine, with all provisions for the development of a Jewish state.

This is why the Jewish community of Palestine and the Zionist movement fear and resist. With nearly 700,000 Jews already in Palestine, the restoration of the Jewish nation and state has proceeded further than at any other time in 2,000 years, and almost no Palestinian Jew is willing to abandon the effort now.

One member of the Executive of the Jewish Agency has often said that if a state in a reasonable part of Palestine, that is, partition, were offered to the Zionists they would seize the opportunity immediately. Partition would give them the kernel of a Jewish state and authority for the continued development of a Jewish national home.

Any such act, however, would mean a direct affront to Arab hopes of an independent, undivided Palestine. Ever since the enactment of the Balfour Declaration, Palestine has been unique as a country that is being populated and colonized by citizens of other states under broad international auspices.

If the present policy remained constant and London considered the Palestine mandate to be vital to its interests, it would appear that the United States would not oppose Britain's retention of the mandate.

Although the Zionists have been making a fuss over British administration, the moderate and majority wing of the movement would probably accede to a continuance of British rule provided large-scale Jewish immigration, settlement and development were resumed.

The United Nations General Assembly must eventually consider three fundamental and mutually contradictory issues in deciding the future of Palestine:

(1) Whether Britain, which has administered the country under a League of Nations mandate since 1922, shall be allowed to retain control.

(2) Whether Zionism's experiment of re-establishing a Jewish homeland in Palestine shall be terminated or allowed to develop.

(3) Whether the Arabs shall receive their asserted right to an independent and representative government in a land in which they now constitute a majority of the population.

Above the din of bombs, guns and rhetoric, these issues emerge as primary.

There have been many indications that, for reasons of strategy,

American Convention, Mr. Baldwin said. "This last makes the Palestine problem our problem."

The meeting was sponsored by the Political Action Committee for (Continued on Page Twelve)

prestige and commerce, Britain has no intention of surrendering her position in Palestine. There has been little evidence to the contrary.

A high British official of the Palestine Government recently expressed the British attitude with this understatement: "Somebody must be responsible for this country, and it might as well be us."

In her ambition to remain in charge of Palestine, Britain is certain to be opposed by the Soviet Union and the Arab states. All clues to the Soviet attitude have suggested that the Kremlin will advocate independence for Palestine or a multi-national trusteeship under the auspices of the United Nations.

More than a year ago a high official of the Near East Division of the State Department was asked whether the United States intended to support British ascendancy in the Middle East. Since then the question seems to have been answered by the active entry of the United States into Middle Eastern affairs.

The Palestine controversy that forced the United Nations to call its first special General Assembly session has been a three-sided conflict among the Arabs, the Jews and the British ever since the country was taken away from Turkey by the victorious Allies after the first World War.

At the heart of all the debate is the League of Nations mandate given to Britain to administer Palestine. The mandate incorporates the Balfour Declaration of 1917, pledging Britain to follow a policy of encouraging establishment of a Jewish national home.

The Zionist position is that the mandate gives legal force to the Balfour Declaration and international sanction to Jewish aspirations. The Arab answer has been that the Balfour Declaration was in flagrant disregard of Arab rights and that the mandate could thus never be carried out.

The legal bickering is complicated by the fight over the British White Paper of 1939, which severely limited Jewish immigration to Palestine. Zionist leadership has contended that the White Paper was a violation of Britain's trust under the mandate and repeatedly has called for its repeal.

Facing the United Nations now is the problem of reconciling differences grown progressively more bitter and deeper over the last quarter-century. The Arab league, five of whose members are seated in the Assembly, is calling for an end to the British mandate and an immediate declaration of independence for Palestine.

The Jewish Agency for Palestine, fearful that an independent Palestine now would mean an Arab-controlled Palestine, is asking for lowering of immigration bars. Zionist spokesmen have given no hard-and-fast blue print for Palestine's future, but have indicated that they would accept United Nations trusteeship if the rights of the Jews under the old mandate were guaranteed.

Armed Resistance To Britain Overt in N.Y.

The hanging of Dov Bels Gruner and three other members of the Irgun Zvai Leumi in Palestine brought repercussions against the British on three fronts in New York City.

Intensified armed resistance to the British administration of Palestine was openly supported by leaders of the militant wing of the Zionist movement at a mass meeting in Manhattan Center, 311 West Thirty-fourth Street, attended by Mrs. Helen Friedman, Gruner's sister.

Mrs. Friedman, who returned after a brief visit in Palestine, reported that her repeated efforts to plead for her brother's life were "politely but firmly" blocked by the British. The meeting was sponsored by the United Zionists-Revisionists of America.

Rabbi Louis I. Newman, observer at the United Nations for the Central Conference of American Rabbis, called the execution "another indication of the savage spitefulness of the British administration in Palestine and the Colonial Office in London." He cited Ireland's fight for freedom as an example of the fact that "the British can be beaten."

Police had to disperse 500 persons outside clamoring to join 9,000 inside as executives of the group bluntly urged armed resistance and American support of it, according to the New York Herald Tribune.

In the Hotel Astor's Grand Ballroom, the American League for a Free Palestine, Inc., pledged itself to raise $7,500,000 for American aid to the Hebrew resistance, and promised that $1,000,000 of this sum would reach Palestine before July 4.

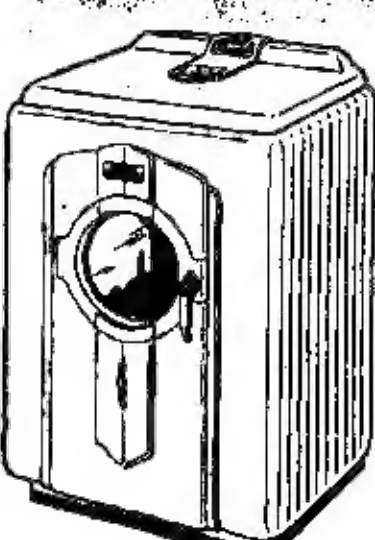

The pledge was made at a dinner honoring members of the crew of the Ben Hecht who returned after their ship had been interned in Palestine for carrying illegal Jewish immigrants to that country. Mr. Hecht, author and playwright, said that part of the money will be used to finance another ship for the crew, whose first was financed largely from the proceeds of his recent play, "A Flag is Born."

Professor Fowler Harper, of the Yale University Law School, presided at the dinner, and the speakers included Justice Ferdinand Pecora, of the Supreme Court of New York.

At the City Center Casino, 133 West Fifty-fifth Street, Joseph Clark Baldwin, former Republican Representative from the 17th New York District, told 1,800 persons that the executions of Gruner and his companions were not legal hangings, but a lynching.

"Great Britain has violated the Balfour Agreement and the Anglo-

OFFER-GOODMAN

The marriage of Bertha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Goodman, 845 Champagne Avenue, to Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Offer, 5459 Durocher Avenue, took place at Chevra Kadisha Synagogue, on Sunday, March 30, at half-past six o'clock, Dr. C. N. Denburg, Rabbi, officiating. Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin, edged with a one-inch border of pearl beading, fashioned with a nylon yoke extending off the shoulder; leg-of-mutton sleeves, fitted bodice, and a full skirt with a bustle back, ending in a two-and-a-half-yard-long train. Her finger-tip-length veil fell from a draped satin heart-shaped crown, and she carried a cascade of Calla lilies. Miss Shirley Dunn, as maid of honor, wore a pink and black striped taffeta gown, with a square neckline; and a heart-shaped headdress, and carried a cascade of pink roses. The junior bridesmaids, Eleanor Offer, in a light green net gown, with a matching nylon yoke; and Estelle Goodman, in a pink tulle gown, carried nosegays. Linda Offer, as flower girl, wore a pale yellow net dress, and a matching crown, and carried a nosegay. Edward Offer was best man, and the ushers were: M. Samuel, Peter Goodman, Ben. Freeman, Julius Feldman, Fred Povitz, Al. Offer, Burt Lester, and Maurice Tessler. Mark Samuel was ring-bearer. A choir sang the wedding music, and "Because" was sung. Mrs. Goodman, mother of the bride, received in a grey dinner gown, trimmed with silver sequins; with a black crown, trimmed with American Beauty roses; and black three-quarter-length gloves; with Mrs. Offer, mother of the groom, in a grey dinner gown, a draped blue and grey hat, and three-quarter-length blue gloves. The bride and groom spent their honeymoon in New York, the bride travelling in a grey suit, with black accessories. They are living at 5459 Durocher Avenue.

daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. I. Brownstein, to Isadore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Swift, 4134 Clark Street, took place at Bnai Jacob Synagogue, on April 20, at six o'clock, Rabbi A. H. Greenberg and Rabbi M. Wachtfogel officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rich. Her floor-length gown of white brocaded satin had a high round neckline trimmed with beads and net, long sleeves with a pointed net ruffle, fitted V-shaped bodice, and a full skirt, ending in a five-yard-long train. Her five-yard-long veil fell from a beaded heart-shaped headdress, and she carried a bouquet of white Calla lilies and lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Esther Brownstein, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown of pink net and lace, with a sweetheart neckline, and a full skirt; and a pink crown and fingertip-length veil, and carried a bouquet of dark pink carnations. Betty Lou Bell, in blue, and Mona Bell, in pink, nieces of the bride, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Bell, were flower girls, wearing long dresses with satin bodices and net skirts, and matching net headdresses, and carrying nosegays. Jack Swift, brother of the groom, was best man, and the ushers were: Sol. Auerbach, Joseph Bronstein, cousins of the bride; Ben. Bell, brother-in-law of the bride; Joseph Borenzweig, Harvey Cohen, Herbert Lang, I. Millman, I. Berish, Samuel Gazin, Philip Bell, Joseph Cohen, and Moe Ackman. Gerald Peter Rich, nephew of the bride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rich, was page boy, in full dress. The altar was decorated with spring flowers, with satin ribbons along the aisle. A choir sang the wedding music. "Because" was sung. A dinner for two hundred and fifty guests followed. Mrs. Harry Rich, sister of the bride, wore a silver-grey draped gown, with fuchsia-colored trimming, and embroidery; a grey hat with fuchsia-colored flowers and veiling, fuchsia-colored gloves, and corsage of dark red roses. Mrs. Swift, mother of the groom, wore a blue embroidered gown, matching gloves, hat of blue veiling and flowers, and a corsage of dark red roses. The bride and groom are spending their honeymoon in New York. The bride travelled in a sky-blue gabardine suit, and black accessories, and an orchid corsage. They will live at 4134 Clark Street. Mr. and Mrs. Moe Kusner and family, of New York, were wedding guests.

BUT, you know.

IT IS

...for money to spend wisely on worthwhile things... but for the unforeseen emergency—the unexpected opportunity.

During the war years, nearly half a million more Canadians realized that setting aside money in a savings account at the B of M was sound commonsense—like the farmer putting hay in his barn. That makes a million and a half B of M depositors following a policy that is at once in the best interests of the individual depositor and in the best interests of the nation.

For money in the bank doesn't lie idle. It works constantly in two ways. It works for the saver and it works for national prosperity—providing, by loans and investment, the capital that creates employment. It helps to produce goods... to produce prosperity.

Today we Live in a Greater Canada

Foreign Flags over OTTAWA

TELL OF CANADA'S IMPORTANCE IN THE MODERN WORLD

20 years ago there was none . . . ten years ago only four . . . TODAY there are 24 Ambassadors, High Commissioners and Ministers representing their governments at Canada's capital. Striking evidence, that, of Canada's new place among modern nations!

We emerged from the war a far greater country than we ever were in pre-war days. Peacetime accomplishments are maintaining that new greatness today.

In the 90's we had a High Commissioner in London, and an Agent-General in France—but we had little say in our foreign affairs. Canada negotiated with foreign powers through the British Foreign Office, with Empire countries through the British Colonial Office.

In World War I Canada won the right to a separate signature to the Treaty of Versailles. That made 1919 an important date for us. Then, in 1931, we and the other Dominions gained recognition as equal partners with the United Kingdom.

World War II...Canada's achievements in battle overseas and in production at home won us world recognition as a modern power. The great majority of the embassies at Ottawa were established during the war years.

GUY PURSER says: "I'm glad I decided to follow my career in Canada. There were opportunities when I started out. There are much greater ones now. No longer need young Canadians go beyond our borders to follow the road to success. It lies before them in Canada today."

MARRIAGES

ROTENBERG-TRAIN

The marriage of Sylvia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Train, 591 Markham Street, to Saul Rotenberg, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rotenberg, took place on Sunday, March 16, at 10 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, 126 Denison Avenue. The bride wore a period gown of white slipper-satin, made with a nylon net yoke at the neckline, fitted bodice, and bouffant skirt, with bustle back, ending in a long scalloped train. Her finger-length veil was caught to a white flowered headdress. She had a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and carried a cascade of Calla lilies. Mrs. Samuel Rotenberg, sister-in-

VOICE DEMAND FOR REPARATIONS

A demand for German reparations to the Jewish people was voiced at Stuttgart, Germany, at the first anniversary meeting of the representative council of the Jewish committee of the western occupation zones of Germany.

Hans Lamm, of New York, a member of the American Jewish Conference, said the conference had submitted this and other proposals to the Council of Foreign Ministers at Moscow. Other demands included:

German acknowledgment of guilt for crimes against Jews; establishment of human rights and outlawing of anti-Semitism; allocation of murdered Jews' personal property, in cases where they had no heirs, to an international Jewish body for relief and resettlement of Jews; the right for Jews to emigrate from Germany; supervision and enforcement of treaty provisions through international machinery.

law of the groom, who attended the bride as matron of honour, wore a gown of Tea-rose-coloured satin, with matching headdress, and carried a cascade of American Beauty roses. The bridesmaids, Misses Libby Shore, Lillian Valdemere, Molly Wise, Frances Rotenberg, and Ida Train, were dressed alike in off-the-shoulder gowns of blue satin, with matching headdresses, and carried nosegays of pink and red roses. Shelia Fingerhut, niece of the groom, was junior bridesmaid, in a blue taffeta gown, with matching headdress, and carried a nosegay of pink and red roses. Samuel Rotenberg, brother of the groom, attended him as best man, and the ushers were: Sidney Shore, Jack Train, William Finkelstein, Louis Train, and Albert Train. Louis Train, nephew of the bride, was a junior usher; and Jack Train, the bride's nephew, acted as ring-bearer, wearing full dress, and carrying the ring on a white satin, heart-shaped cushion. The synagogue was decorated with flowers, and standards of white and blue. During the ceremony, "Because" was sung. A bride's maid, carried with spring flowers, held the wedding cake, with ivory-coloured tapers in silver holders, and the other tables were centred with spring flowers in crystal vases. The bride's mother, Mrs. Train, received, wearing an orchid-coloured draped gown, with a corsage of pink and red roses. The groom's sister, Mrs. David Fingerhut, also receiving, was in a teal-blue gown, with matching gloves and headdress, and a corsage of pink and red roses. The bride wore a brown checked suit, with matching accessories, muskrat coat, and a corsage of orchids. The bride and groom will reside at 591 Markham Street. Mr. and Mrs. N. Teitelbaum, of Montreal, Que., and Mrs. B. Clayman, of Detroit, Mich., were wedding guests.

FISHER-COOPER

The marriage of Hilda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Cooper, 148 Queen Street East, to Philip Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Fisher, 353 Clinton Street, took place on Sunday, April 20, at five o'clock, at Beth Jacob Synagogue, Rabbi David Monson officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her parents. Her gown of white satin had a square neckline, with scalloped edge, short scalloped sleeves, and a full skirt, inset with wide panels of heavy lace, ending in a long train. Her full-length veil, edged with tiny accordion pleats, was arranged with a beaded crown, and she carried a white Bible, decorated with orchids and streamers. Miss Selma Black, who attended the bride as maid of honour, wore a lime-green gown, fashioned on Grecian lines, and carried a cascade of deep red roses. The bridesmaids wore: Misses Iris Fisher, in a blue gown; Grace Gangbar, in a peach-coloured gown; Helen Stein, in pink; Esie Dorfman, in blue; and Mesdames Jack Freedman, in striped taffeta, and Michael Grossman, in blue. Their headdresses matched their gowns, and they carried nosegays of roses. Harriet Wohl and Rhoda Tepperman, as junior bridesmaids, and Rachel Grossberg, as flower girl, were dressed alike, in blue taffeta, with frilled off-the-shoulder necklines, and frilled handlines, and pink headdresses, and they carried nosegays of pink roses. Murray Fisher, brother of the groom, attended him as best man, and the ushers were: Harry Bernstein, Joseph Pinkus, Jack Freedman, Leonard Brown, Harold Wolfman, and Michael Grossman. Marvin Cooper, brother of the bride, and David Cowan, were junior ushers. The wedding music was played by Nathan Lustig, and during the ceremony, Miss Ruth Zeligman sang "Because". The bride's mother, Mrs. Cooper, received, wearing a gown of pale blue crepe, with a corsage of multi-coloured roses. Mrs. Fisher, mother of the groom, wore a gown of royal-blue lace, with a similar corsage. For the wedding trip to New York, the bride wore a king-blue wool suit, with cut-away jacket with fish-tail back, yellow crepe blouse, black patent accessories, and a black straw bonnet, trimmed with multi-coloured flowers. They will live at 74 Humewood Drive. Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. S. Kupperberg, Mr. and Mrs. A. Katzel, and Dr. and Mrs. B. Kupperberg, all of Albany, N.Y.; and Mr. and Mrs. G. Brown, of Kitchener.

MERMONSTEIN-MACKS

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Macks, Borden Street, daughter of J. Macks, Bellevue Avenue, and the late Mrs. M. Macks, to Abraham Mermonstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mermonstein, of Brooklyn, N.Y., took place on Sunday, March 16, at half-past two o'clock, Rabbi David Monson officiating.

Famous Composer Wins Award

Arnold Schoenberg, the celebrated composer, is the recipient of this year's Award of Merit for Distinguished Achievement of the National Institute of Arts and Letters. The award, which carries a prize of $1,000 and is given to "an eminent foreign artist, composer or writer living in America," will be presented to Mr. Schoenberg in May at the Annual Ceremonial, held jointly by the American Academy and the Institute. Mr. Schoenberg, who was born in Austria, is now a resident of Los Angeles, where he is professor emeritus of music at the University of California. One of the chief pioneers in the field of contemporary music, he is famous for new musical principles based on the "twelve-tone" scale. His compositions, covering a wide range, include quartets, concertos, orchestral works, piano works and operas. For two of the operas he also wrote the libretti. His books on musical composition are recognized as texts of importance, and his influence on other composers has been great.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Macks, followed by her father and her grandmother, Mrs. S. Zimmer. She wore an afternoon dress of pale blue crepe, with matching hat and accessories, and carried a white Bible, covered with gardenias, white roses, and streamers of baby's breath. Her only attendant was Miss Ida Slobodsky, of Fort William, as maid of honor, in grey crepe, with matching hat, and carrying a nosegay of Talisman roses. Howard Goldberg, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was best man. The bride's grandmother received in a grey crepe dress, with corsage of Tea roses. Mrs. Macks wore dusty rose crepe, with corsage of yellow roses; and the groom's mother, Mrs. Mermonstein, wore corse crepe, with a corsage of yellow roses. The couple left on a wedding trip to Buffalo, N.Y., and Niagara Falls, and will reside in Brooklyn, N.Y. Heads Jewish Rights Group

Judge Philip Forman, of United States District Court of New Jersey has been named chairman of the foreign affairs committee of the American Jewish Committee, 386 Fourth Avenue, New York.

The foreign affairs committee deals with the protection of the civil and religious rights of Jews throughout the world.

Judge Forman has been a member of the executive and administrative committee of the American Jewish Committee for several years. He presided over the session dealing with international guarantees of human rights at the International Conference of Christians and Jews in Oxford, England, last summer. He was also a member of the American Jewish Committee's delegation at the Paris Peace Conference last summer.

Where do we WANT to go from here?

We in Canada have now come through the hardest part of the post-war adjustment period. By buying in moderation only what we really needed, by resisting the natural desire to rush madly after long-absent luxuries, we have been able to keep prices at reasonable levels. We have been able—so far—to escape the strife and the uselessness of inflation. Knowing where we want to go, we have also known how to get there. Credit for this lies with the foresighted planning of our Government—the wisdom of the people—and the Canadian habit of moderation in all things, which as The House of Seagram has long maintained, is unquestionably one of this country's finest assets.

CLASS IN COOKERY

one and one-half cups sugar, sifted
one-half cup butter
two eggs
one-half teaspoon salt
one teaspoon vanilla

one-quarter cup sour milk
two and one-quarter cups cake flour
one-half teaspoon baking powder
one cup mashed bananas

three-quarters teaspoon soda

Mix butter until soft, add sugar gradually, beating until fluffy. Beat in the eggs, one at a time, add flour sifted with baking-powder, soda and salt. Mix the milk and vanilla with the mashed bananas; then add flour and milk mixtures alternately to creamed mixture, beating until smooth after each addition. Bake in one big greased baking-tin, or in two greased nine-inch layer tins, for thirty minutes in a 350-degree oven.

Icing:

Mix icing sugar, enough to cover cake, with about one tablespoon soft butter; add few drops of lemon juice, and orange juice to make it easy to spread.

Mrs. A. Morris,

3445 Decarie Boulevard, Montreal.

DANISH PASTRY

two cups all-purpose flour
two tablespoons sugar
one teaspoon vanilla
one cake yeast
one-half pound butter

two eggs
pinch of salt
one-half cup warm milk
three-quarters cup sugar
one tablespoon cornstarch

chopped nuts

Mix together the flour, sugar, salt, butter, egg yolks, and vanilla, and rub through the fingers to make a dough. Dissolve the yeast in a scant half-cup of warm milk, and add to the first mixture. Put in refrigerator over night. Then divide dough into four parts, and roll out. Beat egg whites stiff, and combine with three-quarters cup sugar and cornstarch. Spread on top of each pastry, and sprinkle with chopped nuts. Bake in a moderate oven for twenty-five minutes.

Actors Aid Appeal By Broadcast

Edward G. Robinson and John Garfield will appear together in a special nationwide broadcast which will be presented on the network of the American Broadcasting Company on Tuesday, May 6, 9:30 to 10:00 p.m. (E.D.S.T.), in behalf of the $170,000,000 United Jewish Appeal. "Barbed-Wire Sky" is the title of the documentary drama by Ronald MacDougall, one of the outstanding writer-producers at Warner Brothers studios, written for the United Jewish Appeal broadcast.

The story of "Barbed-Wire Sky" is woven around a girl of eight who was born and "raised" in a concentration camp. Her discovery of the world of freedom, the outer world of humanity which she never knew, provides the basic theme for a poignant radio document revealing the plight of the displaced persons of Europe and depicting the humanitarian tasks that go into removing the imprint of the barbed-wire from the lives of the survivors of Hitlerism.

Through the eyes of John Garfield and Edward G. Robinson, the little girl of the concentration camp discovers the true values that made possible the defeat of Hitler and the triumph of human freedom. "Barbed-Wire Sky" will originate from the Hollywood studios of the American Broadcasting Company.

The $170,000,000 nationwide campaign of the United Jewish Appeal, headed by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., former Secretary of the Treasury, as General Chairman, supports the worldwide programs of the Joint Distribution Committee, which provides relief and rehabilitation assistance to destitute Jews; the United Palestine Appeal, which provides for the mass settlement in and upbuilding of Palestine for the maximum absorption of Europe's homeless Jews; and the United Service for New Americans, which aids newcomers to the U.S. in their adjustment to the American way of life.

Synod Deplores Growing Intolerance Here

The most lively debate in its three days of sittings took place at the 88th annual Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Montreal, when the "Race Relations" section of the report of the Diocesan Council of Social Service was presented by the council's chairman, Dr. J. C. Flanagan.

The council reported that it had found in the Province of Quebec "widespread evidence of deliberate anti-Semitic propaganda and practices and the mistreatment of racial or religious minorities." It recommended that the Synod declare "that the policy of segregation now being practiced in certain schools under the Outremont Protestant Board of School Commissioners is contrary to our Judeo-Christian heritage and a regrettable symptom of a growing spirit of intolerance in our social life."

Contributing to the rejection of the section of the Synod, Rev. A. E. Coleman, of Ascension Church, maintained that the Jewish school child in Outremont was receiving all possible advantages and was not being discriminated against.

After several speakers had been heard, a motion proposed by Canon W. H. Davison was passed, declaring "That this Synod, believing that racial discrimination in any form is utterly at variance with Christian principles and productive of hatred and strife, hereby affirms the equality before God of all men without distinction of race, creed or nationality and calls upon all members of the church to repudiate racial animosities and to promote in every possible way the spirit of harmony and good will in the community."

Very Rev. K. C. Evans, Dean of Montreal, proposed a second motion on this subject asking that the Bishop appoint a committee to meet with representatives of the Jewish community in Outremont and of the Outremont Protestant School Board to seek to promote understanding and brotherhood in the community. It was carried.

The Christian Problem

Too often do we hear people speak about "The Jewish Problem." Hardly is there posed "The Christian Problem." Dr. Harrington, minister of the Community Church, in New York City, is of the conviction that the so-called Jewish problem is a Christian problem and Christians are responsible for its creation and therefore its solution. Jews, of course, he maintains, have many problems but these for the most part are Christian-made and have been caused by past and present injustices perpetrated by Christians against Jewish people.

There is no gainsaying that there is much historic truth in Rev. Harrington's exposition of Christian-Jewish relations. For nineteen hundred years there has existed the Christian-Jewish tragedy of ill-will and misunderstanding and suspicion and even contempt marked by much cruelty. Who can deny that anti-Semitism is a sin peculiar to Christians? These nineteen hundred years of cruelty have culminated in the attempt in our own day of wiping the Jew from the face of the earth. Behold the horrors of the concentration camps in which millions of Jews were done to death in Poland, Germany, Austria and in many other parts of the European continent!

The tragedy in all its horror finds its origin when the Jews refused to deify a brother Jew, the humble Rabbi of Galilee, and the Christian converts came to view this Rabbi as the Messiah. For to the Jew, God is spirit and therefore no human, however great, is to be taken as God or a demi-God. To the Jew, God is the One and beside Him there is no other. We speak of this doctrine as ethical monotheism and by this doctrine Israel has lived and suffered as God's witness.

Yes, and the Christians, in hatred of the Jews, manufactured lies in order to belittle the people of Israel who dared to war against all forms of paganism. The first lie perpetrated against Israel was the one which made the Jew the villain in the dramatic story of the Crucifixion. One need only read the New Testament account of the trial of Jesus of Nazareth, according to the Gospel of Matthew, and observe how the crime of Jesus' death is by implication placed upon the Jewish people. In Matthew, Chapter 27, verses 24 and 25, we read:

"When Pilate saw that he could prevail nothing, but that rather a tumult was made, he took water, and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this just person: see ye to it. Then answered all the people, and said, his blood be on us and on our children."

New Testament scholars believe this statement in Matthew to be a late interpolation in the text. But that statement is even taken literally today by multitudes of Christians and has spelled for the Jew ceaseless persecution.

Great Christian authoritative scholars have long ago proven that the Romans killed Jesus. There is no doubt that this young Rabbi was executed as a traitor against the occupied government of Rome. For Jesus preached the Kingdom of God soon to come and he, like unto other young patriotic Jews, looked forward to the destruction of the Roman yoke and the departure of the Roman legions from Palestine.

How tragic it is that even today, in this atomic age, Christian children are still taught that the Jew is the Christ-killer. What Christian children must come to know, if there be peace between Church and Synagogue, is that the Jew is "the Christ-better." We gave Jesus to the world and Christendom is Israel's debtor. We Jews gave the world not only Jesus, the Rabbi of Galilee, but the concept of monotheism, the Bible, the apostles, and the prophets. The Christian church is basically a synagogue. Spiritually speaking, Christians are Jews. We ask of Christians that they be Christ-like and follow the teachings of the Rabbi, whom they have come to know as Master and live by the law of love.

How horrible it is to think of the many other lies fabricated against the Jew by Christians through the centuries, such as the ritual murder accusation and that of the Protocols of the Elders of Zion, claiming that Jews are in an international conspiracy to gain control of the world.

The concept of Israel as the chosen people in Jewish thought is just this, that Israel is the servant of God and has been chosen not to dominate others but to witness to God's truth and spread that truth of God's Unity and the Unity of Mankind to the ends of the earth.

How long will the world choose to make the Jew the scapegoat for society's ills? The Jew has proven to be the Christ-people, walking again and again the via dolorosa and suffering crucifixion. Desperately the Jew struggles to survive today. One third of Jewry has been done to death. Where is there evidence of Great Christian compassion? The pitiful Jewish survivors in Europe wish to go to Palestine and find rest and restoration to normal life. But behold how these are being hounded and all doors of exit and entry closed to them! Where is Christian Canada, where is Christian America now? When the mass extermination of Jews took place, where were the followers of the Master who asked that pity and compassion be shown for the sufferers?

We Jews will continue in the battle for freedom in the spirit of universalism as taught by Moses and the prophets. Christians and Jews of a modern age must thus labor to remove injustices in every department of life and flesh the teachings of universal justice in daily living. Christians and Jews must co-operate and make use of every modern technique of propaganda to spread the message of religion with its goal of universal brotherhood and universal peace firmly to be established among men. Then and then only shall men no longer speak of the Jewish problem or the Christian problem but only of the challenging task of perfecting God's kingdom on earth.

Beg U.N. For End Of D.P. Camps

The Central Committee of Jews in the United States zone of Germany and a council composed of 219 representatives of 211 Jewish camps and communities begged the United Nations to open the gates of Palestine.

In a resolution addressed to Secretary General Trygve Lie, they asked that the United Nations meeting on Palestine put an end to the bad conscience of humanity: the camps. "Remove the injustice inflicted upon our people."

The gathering, presided over by Samuel Gringauz, president of the Council of Liberated Jews, represented most of the 150,000 Jews in the zone, on whose behalf it unanimously adopted the resolution. The Revisionists, the extremist minority that has small confidence in resolutions, sent only an observer. This group believes in a "march on Palestine," and that if the Jews ever are to get to Palestine they had better get up and go, legally or illegally.

The resolution said the Council of Liberated Jews associated itself with all the requests submitted to the United Nations by the Jewish Agency for Palestine.

"To our great disappointment and pain," it declared, "two years after the liberation from the bestial Hitler regime we are forced to continue our pointless existence in the camps, where the ghost of the concentration camp is still looming . . . and where 6,000,000 of our tortured brothers found their graves."

The Central Committee's secretary general, Leon Reiter, urged the United Nations above all not to wish another commission on the displaced Jews in Germany.

"A commission means more days and months of camp life," he said. "days that may have disastrous moral effects."

"How is it possible," he asked, "that this world, which during the war expressed so many times its deepest sympathy for our tragedy, could forget so quickly about it and after six years of concentration camps let us vegetate two years more in displaced person camps?"

Jews Denounce Hangings

Some 15,000 Bucharest Jews filled the Great Temple and an overflow crowd stopped traffic outside, for a memorial service for Dov Bela Gruner, Jewish underground fighter hanged by the British in Palestine. Nearly all Bucharest's Jewish shops were closed.

Rumania's chief rabbi, Dr. Alexander Safran, just back from a three-month tour of the United States, France and Britain, deplored the British action and praised Gruner's sacrifice. Later a Zionist youth representative, speaking from the balcony of a near-by house, pledged support to the Palestine revolutionists and compared their struggle to the Irish fight for freedom.

The French League for a Free Palestine expressed "deep indignation" over the execution of Dov Bela Gruner and three other members of the Irgun Zvai Leumi.

Their execution was described as "odious" not only because of its injustice, but as a useless effort to bring peace in Palestine.

"This action," said the statement, "will not result in any decrease of the Hebrew resistance. Its consequence will be to increase violence. Too much blood has already been shed."

"We have the certitude of expressing the opinion of a majority of Frenchmen in proclaiming:

"Part an end to this squalid war, as Winston Churchill termed it. Give Palestine its independence and the Hebrew people the normal and humane status of an independent nation."

Jews Returning, Say Polish Officials

The Polish Government helped Jewish nations who wished to leave the country during the last two years, but thousands who fled from inside the borders during that time are attempting to come back or have already returned, it was announced by officials representing Poland in the U.S.

The information was revealed at a Warsaw Ghetto Memorial Meeting sponsored by the American Jewish Congress to commemorate the fourth anniversary of the Warsaw ghetto uprising. Three thousand persons attended the rally held in Manhattan Center, in New York.

Dr. Oscar Lange, Polish delegate to the United Nations and former Polish Ambassador to the United States, was listed as the main speaker, but was unable to be present because of illness. His speech was read for him by Dr. Julius Katz-Suchy, secretary-general of the Polish delegation to the United Nations.

"The new Poland knows her indebtedness to the fighters of the ghettos," Dr. Lange's address read. "The Polish Government treats Jews as equal citizens of the Polish republic and will continue to do so. No outside criticism will stop us. We understand the feeling of those who wish to leave. In the period of unsettled conditions we made every facility available for them to speed the departure of those who were anxious to leave. Today, with the return to normal conditions, every Jew can apply for a passport and has the right to leave."

Later Dr. Katz-Suchy declared that it was easy for Jews to leave Poland during 1945 and 1946 because they needed only a certificate. He estimated that 3,000 crossed the border a month then, but latest figures reported, he added, show that during the last months of 1946 the number had dwindled to 600 a month.

ARMED RESISTANCE

Palestine and Palestine War Relief, Inc. Other speakers included Rabbi Baruch Korff; Michael Potter, of the committee, and Barney Ross, former lightweight champion.

Dr. Abba Hillel Silver, as chairman of the American Zionist Emergency Council, issued a statement denouncing the execution of four members of the Palestine underground and charging British Foreign Secretary Bevin with reviving the black-and-tan days of Ireland in the Holy Land.

"One hundred thousand troops are doing his dirty work and American dollars, out of the British loan, are helping defray the cost," Dr. Silver said.

Other parts of the statement, issued after a meeting of the executive committee of the council in the name of all Zionist organizations in the U.S., characterized the British program in Palestine as "organized banditry" and likened Britain to "a faithless guardian to destroy his ward."

Illegal immigration at the present time are criminal," he said. "Three persons to every gross registered ton of shipping—1,200 persons on a ship of 400 tons gross weight!"

"Had it not been for the work done by the Royal Navy many of the ships which left the ports—not only French and Italian ports—would never have reached their destination . . . and thousands of those poor, deluded people on board would have lost their lives."

"I want to express a warning that, one day one of these ships will be lost at sea. The Government won't take any responsibility for those lives should such a disaster occur."

Speaking of the responsibilities of persons outside Palestine, Lord Hall said that without their financial assistance Palestine would not be in the condition in which it is at present.

There have been advertisements in newspapers in the United States inviting subscriptions, he said. "and reports indicate that already this year between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 have been received for the purpose of encouraging illegal immigration, buying guns openly advocating support of the terrorists who are shooting down British soldiers who are as innocent as any other peace-loving person in Palestine."

Another condemnation of terrorism, more in sorrow than in anger, came from Viscount Samuel. He accused fanatics in Palestine of being animated "by the abominable doctrine that the end justifies the means, a doctrine that had been the curse of mankind all through its history."

"The Jewish people," he said, "have always taken pride in the good deeds and distinction won by their members but now they have given birth to a set of assassins who waylay—disguised in false uniforms—soldiers and police and who are responsible for the terrible tragedies. The Jewish people and other Western democracies, about 10 per cent would choose Palestine and the balance would prefer the Western lands.

"There remains a core of Jews, perhaps 50 per cent, who will choose to sweat it out for Palestine regardless of delays and regardless of other immigration possibilities."

The War Department spokesman said that such job opportunities as currently were open in other countries had little appeal for the Jews. These persons, he said, were mostly professional workers, skilled artisans or business people.

Rabbi Bernstein said he could report that the Jewish displaced person problem in Germany had been stabilized. Virtually no Jews are entering the United States zones from Poland, he added, in contrast with migrations ranging up to 3,000 a day last winter. About 1,000 Jews have gone from the United States zones back to Poland.

He discounted reports that there would be a "mass migration" of Jews from Germany to Palestine. "It is impossible," he said, "because of difficulties over travel permits, food and other matters that required detailed arrangement. On the other hand Rabbi Bernstein noted that 'there is increasing filtration from the United States zones of young, vigorous Jews who choose to risk the dangers and hardships rather than to spend another winter in Germany and Austria.'"

He urged that the United States take a strong stand for the opening of Palestine "along the line suggested by President Truman and the Anglo-American Commission."
